As a key global commercial centre, the City of London is one of the most diverse and well-connected places you could be and offers a wealth of inspiration and networking opportunities. Our campuses are located in the financial district and are also minutes from Tech City, London's growing and thriving technology hub and startup scene.

Renee Kroner

Full-time MBA (2018)

Pre-MBA: Associate, Your Part-Time Controller, LLC, Philadelphia

Post-MBA: Financial Controller

The Drone League, New York

"I decided to study for an MBA because I was looking to make a pretty significant change in my career. I started my career in public accounting as an auditor and later as an accounting consultant. While I loved the analytical nature of accounting, I wasn't seeing the impact that I hoped to make through my work. I wanted to explore how I could use my technical background in a more broad and dynamic way.

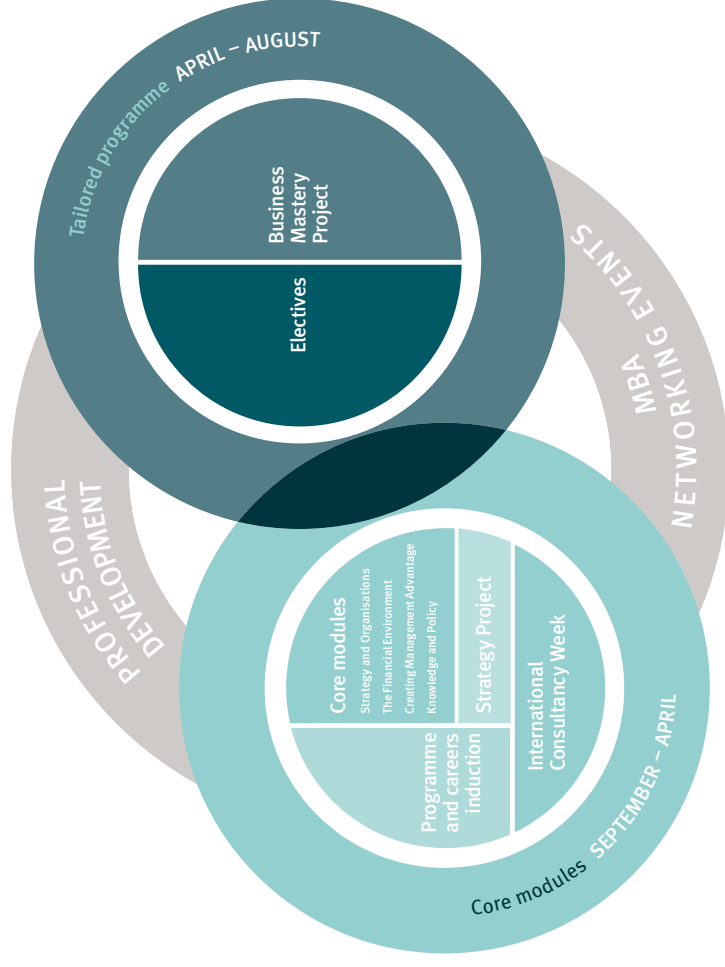

The Global Women's Leadership Programme is designed to nurture rising women leaders. It was an absolute honour to have been chosen as the Full-time MBA scholar for the programme and to have the opportunity to engage with some truly incredible women.

Making the decision to quit my job and return to school was one of the best decisions I ever made. By doing the full-time programme, I was able to focus all of my attention on my studies and truly get everything possible out of the opportunity. I couldn't recommend it more."

Learning that works

An intensive 12-month full-time MBA programme based on theory, application and reinforcement.

Throughout the programme you will be challenged to think creatively, collaborate, analyse and make challenging decisions. What begins in the lecture theatre is rapidly reinforced and tested in real-world practical applications.

In your first two terms you will develop business literacy and skills during core modules which give you exposure to many aspects of business.

The core modules are taught through lectures, case study analysis, group projects, simulation exercises and presentations.

The core modules end with Integration Weeks where you work as a team to deliver exercises designed to test what you have learned.

As you progress through the programme you will start to build a repertoire of skills and knowledge that you can use throughout your MBA and beyond.

Applied knowledge

An immersive real-world learning experience transforming the way you approach business.

During the first two terms you also begin the Strategy Project, a collaborative assignment where you and your team consult for a business client to overcome a real operational challenge or unearth an opportunity for growth. This culminates in a group presentation of your solutions for the client where analytical and problem solving skills are tested before planning and implementation of effective strategies are called for. Likewise, the International Consultancy Week is an intensive immersion into an overseas company's inner workings and its economy. Thereafter you and your team have four weeks to present solutions based on your recently acquired expertise. In your third term you make the MBA your own. A choice of electives in Strategy, Consulting, Marketing, Entrepreneurship, Finance or Management allow you to tailor your MBA to either complement existing experience or widen your field of knowledge. The international electives enable students to broaden their experiences of global markets, cultures and issues. Again, academic and practical learning go hand in hand.

The programme concludes with the submission of the Business Mastery Project, where you will further develop and refine your knowledge and skills through an individual project. This is your opportunity to tackle a real-world business challenge and utilise your academic learning to provide practical solutions. It serves as the perfect platform for you to add value to your CV, giving you an invaluable advantage in your next decisive career move.

A global perspective

Preparing you for future challenges in a competitive global business environment.

The programme immerses you in the global business market through the International Consultancy Week and a choice of international electives.

The International Consultancy Week places students at the heart of a fast-paced growing foreign market, providing them with live projects and a chance to use what they have learned to create viable business solutions. In one week you will be exposed to everything from new business cultures in unfamiliar environments to creative partnerships and business leaders.

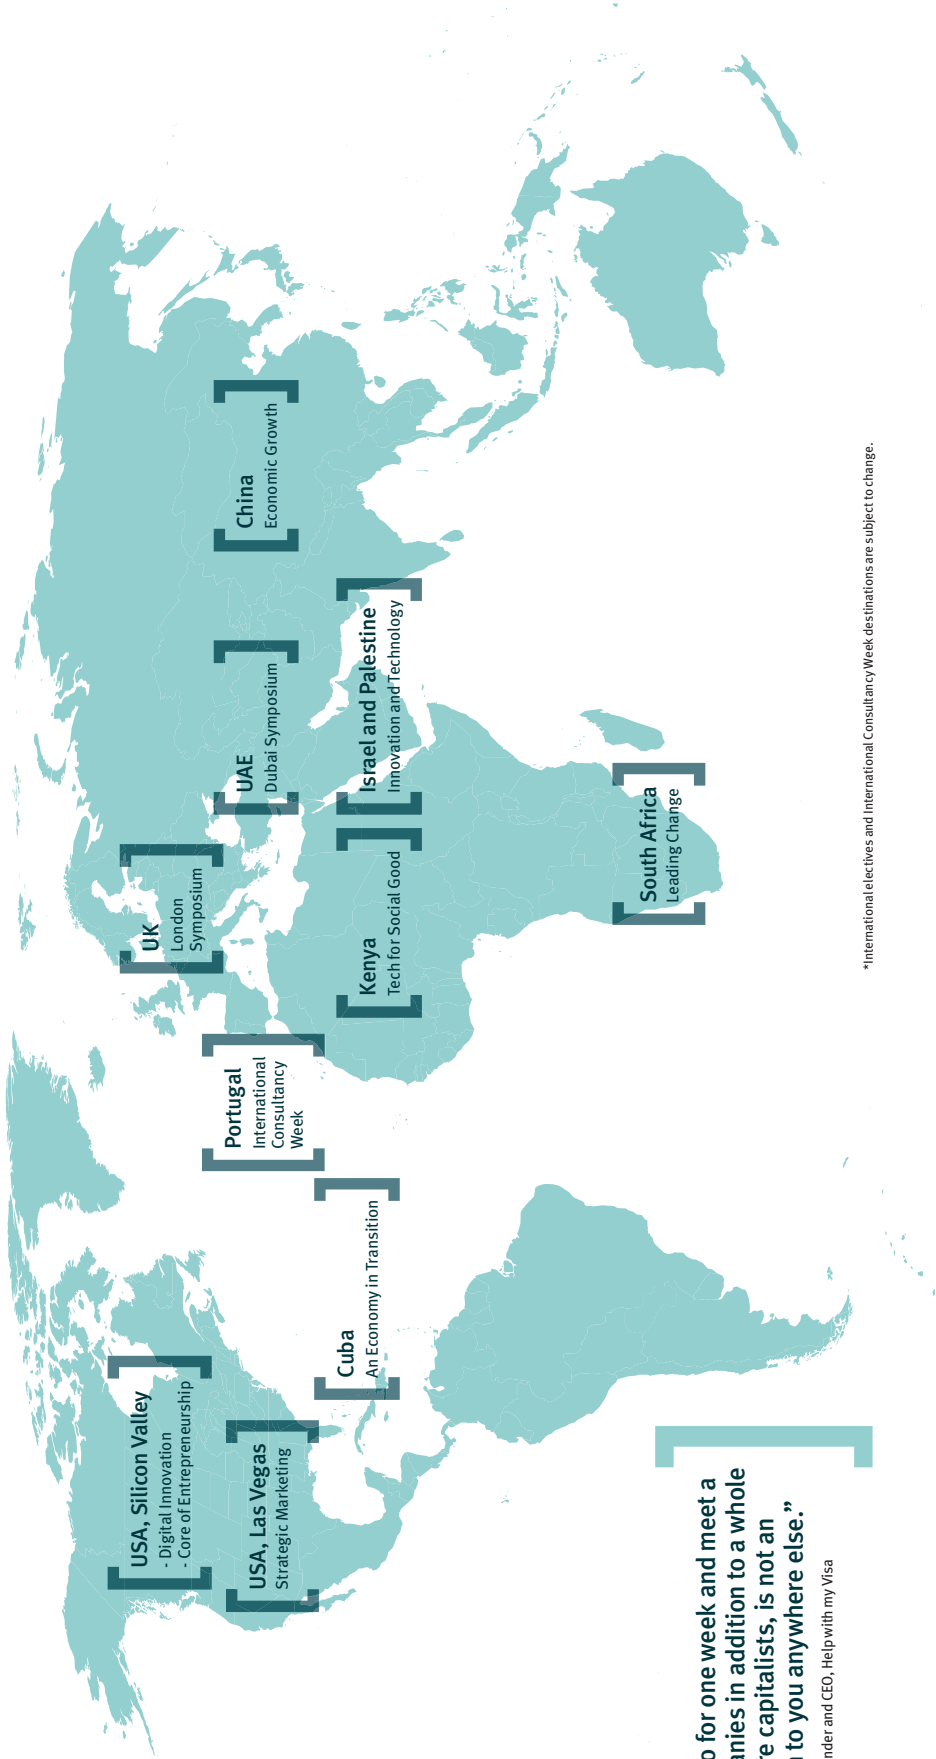

International electives are available in a variety of dynamic markets. China, Cuba, Israel and Palestine, Kenya, South Africa, UK, Portugal, the UAE, USA (Las Vegas, Silicon Valley) will each provide key insights into very different business cultures: from the institutional, political, socio-economic and business culture of China to Silicon Valley's technological-innovation-over-profit business model.

You will meet with a range of companies from startups to large organisations each imparting their unique global perspective within that specific region and industry.

It is this international experience that will give you a competitive edge in the job market.

“To come to San Francisco for one week and meet a range of amazing companies in addition to a whole host of angel and venture capitalists, is not an opportunity that is open to you anywhere else.”

Gareth Richards, Full-time MBA (2017), Founder and CEO. Help with my Visa

*International electives and International Consultancy Week destinations are subject to change.

Pre-MBA: Manager, Odebrecht

Rio de Janeiro

Post-MBA: Assistant Director

Mitie, London

“The Business School provided the international experience I wanted and with its central London location, it allowed me to network with consultants and organisations that the School is connected to.

The Careers team was instrumental in helping me to secure my new role. They supported me throughout the job-hunting journey, helping me to tailor my CV. Every time I had an interview, I would call my careers advisor to practise beforehand. It gave me the extra confidence to deliver a more polished interview.

Though I am not a natural networker, the careers team encouraged me to meet an Executive MBA alumnus at an event who alerted me to a great opportunity. As a result, I am now working at Mitie, in their consulting business section advising companies on their corporate real estate and workplace strategy.

Thanks to the Full-time MBA and the networking opportunities it provided, I have moved from Brazil and embarked on a rewarding new career as a consultant.”

EY Seren, London

"I began my career in the hospitality and travel sectors in Dubai and Seattle. I decided to study the full-time MBA because I was looking to move into a new industry and wanted to gain new skills.

The School has a very interesting offering – I enjoyed the focus on teamwork, the breadth of projects, how the core modules were grouped together and the unrivalled London location.

The Digital Transformation Elective in Silicon Valley was incredible. Following advice from the Careers Team, I created a contact working in design consulting, an eye-opening meeting which inspired my career change.

The Careers Team was able to help me with everything: from looking at my CV, to doing mock interviews and creating opportunities for me to engage with valuable professional contacts.

I now work as a Senior Consultant in Experience Delivery at EY Seren. I discovered their design consulting branch through the School's network and it really is my dream job."

Post-MBA: Founder and CEO

HYPER CRUNCH, London, UK

"Prior to my MBA, I was a manager at a consultancy firm and helped large companies launch digital initiatives but I was looking for a career booster and a change.

The MBA had everything I was looking for: a focus on entrepreneurship and innovation, a range of events to network at and a fantastic location in the heart of London.

The MBA taught me where my priorities and strengths lie. The Careers Team reinforced the concept that you will perform best when you are doing what energises you. This was a clear "ahai!" moment for me.

After graduating, I launched a next-gen marketing platform and used the Business Mastery Project to write my business plan. Doing so helped me think outside the box and plan my next steps.

Studying an MBA in a thriving environment opened my eyes to so many things. It is one of the best decisions of my career."
