

Discover Leiden University, The Netherlands

In 1575, the Netherlands founded its first university in Leiden. It soon became one of Europe's leading universities and remains so today. Leiden University has an excellent international reputation as a research-intensive university with a global orientation. It is a truly international university that unites people and knowledge in an environment where what matters is who you are as a person.

Why Leiden University?

- ▷ English-taught: A broad number of English-taught bachelor's, master's and PhD programmes are offered; it is not necessary to know any Dutch.
- ▷ Flexible: Programmes offer flexibility in choosing subjects related to your interests, in addition to core subjects.
- ▷ International: Students from over 120 different nationalities are represented throughout the university.
- ▷ Location: Campuses are located in the safe and historical cities of Leiden and The Hague, right in the heart of Europe.
- ▷ Personal: Classes are small, encouraging interaction between students and the professor. Staff members are there to assist students, creating a personal learning environment and community.
- ▷ Prestige: Leiden University is the oldest university in the Netherlands offering bachelor's, master's and PhD programmes.
- ▷ Ranking: Leiden University consistently ranks highly in international rankings such as the Times Higher Education World University Ranking (THE).
- ▷ Recognition: Leiden University is recognised by the Dutch Ministry of Education and its programmes accredited by the NVAO (Dutch-Flemish Accreditation Organisation).

Finances and housing

The tuition fee varies per programme and nationality. In general, Indonesian nationals (international students) pay €12.100-20.000 (approximately IDR 180.000.000 - 300.000.000) per year depending on the programme. EU/EEA students have a different tuition rate. For the exact fees, or fees for other nationalities, please check our website: www.universiteitleiden.nl/en.

There are limited opportunities for scholarships for international students. Netherlands Fellowship Programme scholarships, StuNed Scholarships, Holland Scholarships and Leiden Excellence Scholarships are available for qualified applicants. For more information on scholarships, please see: www.universiteitleiden.nl/financial-aid. General information about scholarships in the Netherlands and Europe can be found at www.grantfinder.nl.

In addition to the tuition fee, you will need approximately €12,000 per year to cover living and other expenses. Please note that Leiden University College is a residential college requiring residency for the first two years of the 3-year bachelor's programme. The rest of Leiden University is not campus-based and there are housing options around Leiden and The Hague to fit any budget. Housing cannot be guaranteed and can be difficult to secure due to the outstanding demand each year, therefore applying for housing as soon as possible is highly recommended. Applications for housing from admitted students are accepted until June 1st each year, and rooms are assigned on a first-come-first-serve basis. For further information: universiteitleiden.nl/housing.
